ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A server stores original data without a wate r-mark. When a user at a 5   terminal apparatus connected with the server requests the server to display the original data on a display of the terminal apparatus, the server transforms the original data into an image data. Then the server adds a water-mark to the image data and transmits the image data with the water-mark to the terminal apparatus.

10